3> Aesop was one of the great Greek writer [writers.] . [He] ~~He~~ is best known 4> for his fables[,] stories that have a moral[.] . [They] ~~They~~ teach us
1> something about how we should live our lives. Aesop wroter [wrote]
3> thousand [thousands] of these stories[.] Here are a few[↵]

2> The Wolf in Sheep'a [Sheep's] Clothing[↵]

3> Once upon a time[,] a wolf decided to disguise the way he loked [looked.] He 2> thought it woulf [would] help him get food more easily[.] He put on the 1> skin of a sheep[,] then he went out with the flock into the 2> pasture[.] Even the shepherd was fooled by his clever costumer [costume.] In 3> the evening[,] the sheepherd [shepherd] put him in with the _ [rest] of the sheep. He closed the gate and made sure it was secure before he went 3> to bed[.] In the midle [middle] of the night[,] he came back to the fold
2> to get some meat for the next day[.] Instead of a sheep[,]
2> thought [though,] he grabbed the wolf [Wolf,] killing him
1> instantly[↵]

1> Those who look to harm others will be harmed themselves[.]

1> The Bat and the Weaswl [Weasel]

3> A BAt fell on the ground and was eaught [caught] by a Weasel[.] It
2> begged the Weasel to spare its life[,] but the Weasel refused[.] It told 4> the Bat _ [that] bird [birds,] by nature[,] were its enemy[.] The Bat
3> assuref [assured] him that it was not a bird[,] it was a mouse[.] The 3> Weasel thought a moment[,] then set it free[.] A while later[,] the Bat
2> fell again to the ground[,] and it was caught by another weasel [Weasel.] It
3> begged this Weasel not to eat him[,] either[.] The Weasell [Weasel,] 1> thought [though,] said it did not like mice at all and would eat it. The 2> Bat told the Weasel that it was not a mouse[,] but a bat[.] The second Weasel had no good answer, so he let it go.

1>   The Bat knew it is always wise _ [to] turn events to your advantage.

1>   The Lion and the Mouse[↵]

1>   A sleepingg [sleeping] Lion was woken up by a Mouse running over his 3>   face[.] He got up angrily and eaught [caught] the scared little Mouse[.]
2>   H [He] was about to kill the Mouse[,] but it said in its squeaky little 3>   voice[,] 'If you would only spare my life[,] I would be sure to repay your 4>   kind [kindness."] ness" [The] ~~The~~ Lion laughed at such nonsense[,] but he 4>   let him go[.] A shourt [short] time later[,] thought [though,] the Lion
2>   was caught by some hunters[.] They bound him by ropes to the ground[.]
2>   The Mouse recognize [recognized] his roart [roar,] and he rushed over and 3>   gnawed the rope with his teeth[,] setting the L:iom [Lion] free[.] The 3>   Mouse said "You laugjed [laughed] bat [at] the idea of my evr [ever] being 2>   zble [able] to help you,. Now you know that it is possible for even a 1>   small little Mouse to help a great big Lion"[↵]

       The Fox and the Crow

2>   A Crow stole a bit of meat[,] and she perched in a tree,l [tree,] holding it
1>   firmly in her beak. A ox [Fox] saw her there and knew he wanted the meat 2>   for himself. He came up with a plan. "HOw handsome is the Crow"["] he 3>   said[.] "Her shape is beatiful [beautiful] and her feahers [feathers]
3>   bright[.] If only her voice werre [were] equal to her beauty[,] she would 1>   be called the Queenn [Queen] of Birds!" He lied when he said this, but 2>   the Crow was vain[.] She wantes [wanted] to show the Fox that her voice
2>   really was as beatifulk [beautiful] as he said[.] She opened her mouth wide
3>   and eawed [cawed] loudly[,] dropping the meat to the ground[.] The Fox 3>   quickly pieked [picked] it up and shook his head with scorn. " ["My] ~~My~~ 4>   good Crow[,]["] " [he] ~~he~~ said, your voice is fine, but you dont_[t]
1>   have the brains to use it well."[↵]

1>   The Two Dogs[↵]

4>   A Man bad [had] ~~had~~ two dogs[.] One was a Hound[,] trained to assist him
1>   in his sports[,] and the other was a House Dog, taught to watch the 3>   house[.] When he came home after a good daysn [day's] hunting. he always 1>   gave the House Dog a large share of his catch[.] The Hound
